DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Application

This Office Action is in response to applicant's arguments filed on 3/10/2006. Claims 2, 4-5, 8-15 have been cancelled. Claims 1 and 3 have been amended. Claims 1, 3, 6-7 are pending and are examined herein. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but found persuasive enough to withdraw the obviousness double patenting rejection over 10/624,609 and the 35 USC 102(b) rejection. The obviousness-type double patenting rejection over 11/018,312 are maintained for reasons of record. The following new rejection will now apply.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1, 3, 6 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 3, 5, 7-8, 14, 28 of copending Application No. 11/018,312. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because application 11/018,312 claim a composition comprising an antifungal agent, particularly caspofungin, micafungin, anidulafungin, and posaconazole, with an antibacterial agent.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's willingness to file a terminal disclaimer should any conflicting claims be found allowable is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham vs John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1, 3, 6-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Ponikau et al. (US Patent 6,207,703 B1) in view of Markham et al. (US Patent Application 2002/0193369 A1).

The instant claims are directed to a composition comprising an antifungal agent (posaconazole or caspofungin) and an antibacterial agent.

Ponikau et al. teach a method of treating non-invasive fungus-induced mucositis, such as chronic otitis media, by administering an antifungal formulation (abstract). This formulation can contain a cocktail of antifungal agents along with additional ingredients such as antibacterial agents (col. 26, lines 10-29). One particular formulation calls for a combination of an antifungal agent (col. 42, lines 56-61) and an antibacterial agent (col. 44, lines 44-53). Preferred antifungal agents include amphotericin B, itraconazole, saperconazole, and voriconazole (col. 43, lines 39-42). Furthermore, this formulation may be administered as an ear drop (col. 28, lines 41-44).

However, Ponikau et al. fail to disclose posaconazole or caspofungin.

Markham et al. teach that posaconazole (section 0045) and caspofungin (section 0101) are antifungal agents.

Therefore, it would have been prima facie obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the claimed invention was made, to combine posaconazole or caspofungin as taught by Markham et al. with the antifungal composition taught by Ponikau et al.

A person of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to make this combination because of the therapeutic additive effects of combining two compounds for the same purpose. Therefore, one of ordinary skill in the art would have had a reasonable expectation of successfully treating non-invasive fungus-induced mucositis.

"It is prima facie obvious to combine two compositions each of which is taught by the prior art to be useful for the same purpose, in order to form a third composition to be used for the very same purpose.... The idea of combining them flows logically from their having been individually taught in the prior art." In re Kerkhoven, 626 F.2d 846, 850, 205 USPQ 1069, 1072 (CCPA 1980).

Examiner also respectfully reminds applicant that the intended use of a composition has no patentable weight.

It is respectfully pointed out that a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish from each other. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). Thus, the intended use of a composition claim will be given no patentable weight.

It is further respectfully pointed out that a preamble is generally not accorded any patentable weight where it merely recites the purpose of a process or the intended use of a structure, and where the body of the claim does not depend on the preamble for completeness but, instead, the process steps or structural limitations are able to stand alone. See In re Hirao, 535 F.2d 67, 190 USPQ 15 (CCPA 1976) and Kropa v. Robie, 187 F.2d 150, 152, 88 USPQ 478, 481 (CCPA 1951). See MPEP 2111.02.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
